ACCA - Association of Chartered Certified Accountants

The ACCA is the largest accountancy body in the UK and is the global body for professional accountants. Worldwide it has approximately 147,000 members and 424,000 students in 170 countries. It is a wide-ranging qualification enabling the student to work in all areas of the profession. A member of the association can use the letters ACCA or FCCA after their name depending on the grade of the membership.

ACCA Fundamentals

This first level ACCA course offers you the opportunity to further your career and gain professional Accountancy qualifications while studying on a part-time basis. You will receive 60 hours of tuition, including revision, and be taught by experienced professionals. The University has over 25 years of experience of delivering these courses.

ACCA Professional

This professional level ACCA course offers you the opportunity to further your career by topping up your Accountancy qualifications while studying on a part-time basis. You will receive 60 hours of tuition, including revision, and be taught by experienced professionals. The University has over 25 years of experience of delivering these courses.

Course content

All courses are completely University run and prepare students for the Association's examinations to be held in June each year. Note: Examinations are also held in December and a student may sit a maximum of four papers in one examination session. Please check the ACCA website to ensure Professional examinations are not on the same day as any Fundamental examinations you may also be sitting. You will only be able to sit one examination on each day.
