Knowledge and skills

HND students gain knowledge of how the business world operates, developing knowledge in such areas as finance, people, marketing, and management systems. Students develop skills in self reliance, initiative and the ability to manage time and projects. Other key skills include numeracy, research, IT and working with others.

Further study

A significant proportion of students progress to a relevant degree, such as the BA (Hons) in Business Studies, where they can gain a more in depth understanding of business and commerce. A good overall profile is usually required. Students can also apply to study for a vocational qualification in a particular field, such as accountancy, or human resources, with an employer or professional body.

Career opportunities

This course will give students a firm foundation of the business world, which can be applied in any sector or industry. Examples include retail, hospitality and leisure, sales and manufacturing organisations. Industries as diverse as utilities, health, construction and charities all require individuals with business knowledge and skills.
