

Career destinations

BSc (Hons) Business Information Systems

Percentages of leavers in known destinations (2009)

Examples of employment obtained by leavers (2009)

Job title	Employer
Project assistant for dialogue marketing	Fredebold & Partner
Project assistant	FCS Feinchemie Schwebda GMBH
Software Support	Securitworld

Knowledge and skills

Graduates understand how IT serves businesses and focus on how computer users relate to this technology and can use it effectively and efficiently. They have significant practical computing skills and also develop good team working and communication skills, including making presentations.

Professional accreditation

The course is accredited by the British Computer Society.

Career opportunities

Employment is available in many areas, including business analysis, consultancy on systems, user and network support, network management, software engineering, web development, education and training and may be, for example, in large IT companies, consultancies, financial services, web-based business, retailing or the public sector. Skills in communication, presentation, working with other people and IT are prized by virtually all employers and open up opportunities in many other areas including finance, retail, hospitality and business.