

Career destinations

BSc (Hons) Electronic Engineering

Percentage of leavers in known destinations (2009)

The University does not have employment results for this course as it has not been running long enough to enable leavers to be surveyed.

To see results for BEng (Hons) Electronic Engineering please click the following link:

http://www.solent.ac.uk/courses/undergraduate/electronic_engineering_beng/resources/ElectronicEngineeringBEng.pdf

Knowledge and skills

Graduates acquire theoretical knowledge, technical skill and practical ability in electronic engineering as well as awareness of how business operates. In addition they develop skills in numeracy, I.T., communication, decision-making and working with others in varying roles including teamwork and leadership.

Professional accreditation

With this qualification they can achieve the professional status of Incorporated Engineer.

Career opportunities

Employment opportunities are in manufacturing, maintenance, design and development and technical sales in areas such as control systems, computing and instrumentation. They cover a wide range of business activity including telecommunications, broadcasting, medical systems, pharmaceuticals and transport.