Knowledge and skills

This one-year top up degree combines practical media based skills in photography, multimedia creation and music production with academic study. Students also have the opportunity to enhance their business awareness. Transferable skills can be developed in communicating with others in a range of roles and situations, presenting and debating ideas and using IT.

Career opportunities

This course is designed to introduce graduates to careers in the creative industries, including media, music production, marketing and sales and photography.

Entry to all of these areas is highly competitive. Gaining relevant experience and taking any possible opportunities to find out more about the industries and how they operate will improve job prospects.

Further information about the labour market for the creative industries and job descriptions can be found at Skillset (www.skillset.org.uk).
