

APATE

DIRECTED BY ARCHIE EVERETT

DRINK TO FORGET, LIVE TO REMEMBER.

Pandora is a young woman returning home from her sister's funeral, drunk, grieving and guilt ridden. But when she realizes the ghost of her late sister is haunting her, Pandora is forced to look at herself and her actions to uncover the reason why her sister is back from the dead.

PROJECT STATEMENT

I decided to tackle these subjects because I wanted to evoke emotion from the audience and for them to be able to reflect on what they've watched with a more analytical eye than you would a stereotypical horror film. It is in essence a ghost story but what kind of ghosts are scarier? The over haunting of the sister or Pandora's inner demons which are consuming her throughout the story.

I want the audience to question what actually scares you. As real life stories and topics can be much more frightening than ones that are made up with the intention to scare you. I have avoided making it seem like an educational video and grounded the story within the realms of reality so people may be able to relate and pick apart this complex character and its themes.

I believe telling a heartfelt and emotionally driven tale through the guise of a horror film is perfect for an engaging watch but also a hard to achieve combination which is why I have challenged myself to do so.

CONTACT

Phone Number: 07873713008

Email:
archieeverett45@gmail.com